Thurs. night.

Dearest mother,

The hour was eth 10 min. of 11, but I must tell you about my party today. It was my Glee Club party - for, being in it, & having my man's ticket free & no guest fare out of town I've getting off very cheaply otherwise. So I had a dandy dinner at S.S. for Roy, Leon, Helen, Mrs. Ch-& Miss Bull. Helen & I cooked from 1 till 3:30 & put it thro' - just had to warm things when we got back to S.S. at 6 P.M. Supper (dinner) was served about 7 (a little before) & we ate till 8:30! Everything was good except the cake (it was merely eatable) & the frosting of that was grand.

Well, we had the table set in front of the fireplace (& a fire in it) with many monogrammed doilies, & a doz. yellow jonquils in the middle ($\frac{1}{2}$ doz. went to each the chaperones afterward). We had chilled grape fruit; creamed veal in timbale^{the} cases which I cut & browned myself out of bread, peas, ^{stuffed} broiled potatoes, olives, rolls; cheese wafers, salad of lettuce, ^{sliced} piments, & iced cream cheese and mayonnaise; fig tapioca pudding in sherbet glasses, & chocolate cake with white icing, & coffee. We done fine - everybody else thinks so. Leon is going to the concert with me, and Roy to the Thé d'aurant. Next I'm going to try to get Helen to ask Leon to the Thé. She refuses to go because she can't dance well enough, & I know she'd have a good time. I tho't you'd be anxious to hear how things came out. Roy did the proper thing & bro't candy - but Leon is good looking. So there you are!

When I came in tonight I found an invitation which sounds like a joke. Either it's a mix-up or Aunt Ellen didn't state her case plainly. If it's the latter, I'm going, of course.
It may be that she's having Sr. officers to help ^{have} live up the grade.

Oh, tell Mr. D — that Miss Bollett is S.S. '08 — That's all of her record that's given, but it is of course quite an "ad" in itself.

Oh, how I've got to get to work tomorrow A.M. & ditto till a week from today — then I'm either made or marred.

Must close — this has taken only 15 min. I hear you say, "I knew it," — but you should worry. (I really am — over my papers).

Goodnight & love to all.
Janet.

Tell J'ma I'll get her nice letter & will answer it after exams are over.
